Name: ___________________________

My Investigation Journal

1. Key Question ____________________________________________________________
   _______________________________________________________________________
   _______________________________________________________________________

2. My Prediction ____________________________________________________________
   _______________________________________________________________________
   _______________________________________________________________________

3. What Happened

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Day and Time</th>
<th>What I observed on the flower in blue water</th>
<th>What I observed on the flower in red water</th>
<th>What I observed on the flower in regular water</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

4. What I concluded _________________________________________________________
   _______________________________________________________________________
   _______________________________________________________________________
   _______________________________________________________________________

5. Describe the process of capillary action in your own words
   _______________________________________________________________________
   _______________________________________________________________________
   _______________________________________________________________________
   _______________________________________________________________________